President Trump bashed the New York Times, again, on Monday night, urging his supporters to "get their act together and vote" for Republicans for the midterms. During a rally in Erie, Pa., Trump said, "The [New York] Times has said very negative things about me and my administration and we're fighting back." "Right now, I have to say, we are winning," he added. "But I have to say, get your act together and vote. The election is coming up. We have to get out and vote." Trump bashed the "fake news" media for its recent report — discredited by fact-checkers — that he directed Michael Cohen to lie to Congress during the ongoing investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 presidential election. The president has been in a barrage of headlines lately, including "Trump says he had no dealings with Russia," from reporters as well as cable news commentators. The president on Monday said that he takes "pleasure in correcting the record." "You know, just in the past 24 hours, I think I had three or four, three major ones, I think, two hours, three hours, on, on, on the fact that you guys in the press know absolutely nothing. I mean, you know absolutely nothing. And you shouldn't let it be. And you know, you should show the public," he said. "I've had tremendous success in the things that I've done," he concluded. "I've accomplished more, much more, than any politician in the history of politics. Not only in a short period of time. I've done more than most people ever done in their entire life, and I'm only 1-2 years out of office, but in that short period of time, I've done more than any president ever. I mean, nobody would have ever believed it. I did. And I did it on a scale that nobody's ever seen. And I'm only one year out. And it was an incredible landslide. I beat Hillary Clinton with almost 300 million votes. Hillary Clinton beat me with almost 300 million votes. Okay? So that's tough. But, you know, we have to do a great job in this election. We have to get out to vote. We have to get out and vote. But we have to get out and vote in a very important way."Polyamory Polyamory (from Greek Πολν
