assign a custom attribute to each attribute in my XML document? I have an XML document like this: I want to assign a custom attribute to the attributes as I use a different kind of sorting/mapping algorithm.

How do I do that? I want the output to be something like this: The custom attribute is not required but it would be nice to have it. A: I assume you are using the built-in XmlDocument class and not using any of the classes that are available in LINQ to XML. If so, try something like this: using System.Xml.Linq; void Main() { var doc = new XmlDocument(new XElement("post", new XAttribute("id", "12345"), new XAttribute("title", "My awesome post"), new XAttribute("tags", "cat, dog, goat"), new XAttribute("myattribute", "I have a custom attribute"))); doc.Save(Console.Out); } If you want to use custom attributes, the
