By: Dwayne Crawford When it comes to getting out of jail, you don't want to be taken to jail in the first place. You want to be proactive in finding a way to buy that time you need to do the necessary things you need to do to be ready to be out and ready to go when the time comes. Trust me, it's not always easy to come up with that extra cash... but there are other ways to get the money you need to get yourself free. These resources were designed to be used in any jail setting (Prisons, Supervised Release, work camps, etc.) but are applicable to any setting in which you can go through earning points, like clubs, restaurants, etc. According to the Bureau of Prisons, "Job Searching on Your Own": "Earn 25 Points each week to start. Enroll in work programs. Apply and interview for available positions. Check each job posting several times before accepting the assignment. Earn 50 Points per week to begin weekly earned pay. Participate in community service."

The FBI arrested a Bridgeport man Thursday afternoon in connection with the shooting of a police officer last month, and a search warrant was executed in the deadly officer-involved shooting. David Johnson, 33, of Bridgeport, was arrested around 3:30 p.m. Thursday and is being held in the Fairfield County Jail, according to Assistant U.S. Attorney Bernie Magazino. The U.S. Marshals Service is holding Johnson pending federal charges. Johnson is suspected of killing a Bridgeport police officer in an exchange of gunfire in the parking lot of Jefferson Port, Sept.
5. Six other police officers and a U.S. Marshal were hurt in the shooting, and Johnson was shot.

After Wednesday's arrest, federal agents searched a home in Bridgeport and at least two vehicles, and seized an AK-47 rifle, ammunition and a bulletproof vest, Magazino said. The second vehicle is registered to Johnson.

Magazino said officials recovered two cellphone video clips that show the shooting. Both clips show the shots came from a different vehicle than the one Johnson is driving in the videos. The video shows a man with a long gun holding a cellphone, Magazino said.

Description: Authors: Johansen, Charles R. Sistemas De Control Moderno 2 EdiciÃ³n Shikonin Induces Apoptosis in Human Prostate Cancer Cells Through the Down-Regulation of Survivin. To investigate the effect of shikonin, a naphthoquinone isolated from the root of Lithospermum erythrorhizon, on human prostate cancer cells. CCK8 assay, Western blot and flow cytometry were used to detect the effect of shikonin on PC-3 and DU145 cells. Human prostatic carcinoma ACHN cells were used as a control. The effect of shikonin on ACHN cells was also evaluated by the use of Western blot. Shikonin decreased the viability of human prostate cancer cells in a concentration- and time-dependent manner. The IC50 values were 66.89 nM in PC-3 and 66.89 nM in DU145 for 2 h. The mRNA and protein levels of survivin were down-regulated by shikonin as shown by RT-PCR and Western blot. Compared with ACHN cells, shikonin increased the level of apoptosis in ACHN cells. Shikonin could down-regulate the expression of survivin and induced apoptosis in PC-3 and DU145 cells in vitro.

Q: How to center a UIButton in a NavigationBar I have a NavigationBar with a NavigationItem that has a custom UIButton. I want this button to be centered vertically. But this is what happens: You can see that the UIButton is cut in half. I have read this SO topic and I tried to use the methods described there. However, this is the result of the correct method: In my code I try the different methods in the previous link: // Build the navigation bar let navBar = UINavigationController() let navItem = UINavigationControllerItem() //  Setting up the custom button let customButton = UIButton() customButton.setTitle("Animations", forState:.Normal) customButton.
