To explore the software you can visit their official website.This invention relates to a shoe-changing apparatus for automatically changing footwear worn on feet, and more particularly to a shoe-changing apparatus for automatically changing footwear without requiring any manual labor. In general, when a customer wearing shoes sits down, he often remains seated until the customer gets up. To achieve the same effect as attending to one's own shoes, a shoeless attendant is stationed in front of the customer and holds a shoe box under the customer's feet. In the above conventional shoe-changing apparatus, a customer removes his foot from his footwear and puts it into the shoe box, while the shoeless attendant lays a new pair of shoes on the customer's feet, then the attendant secures the shoe box under the customer's feet. However, such conventional shoe-changing apparatus require that a customer remove his foot from his shoe and place it into a shoe box, so as to switch shoes, and many shoe-changing procedures are required, while the attendant lays a new pair of shoes on the customer's feet, and d0c515b9f4
