As a result, “HyperMotion Technology” allows players to experience some of the most refined and accurate motion animation in the industry, improving on the overall player experience for those who want to see the most realistic representation of how it looks and feels to actually be in the game. Additionally, during the creation of the game’s technology and the design of characters for the game, we worked closely with an international group of animation experts, including the leading motion capture animation studio “Moviestar – VFX” in Hungary, and the VFX/MMG group at “Urban VFX” in Belgium. We would like to thank our long-time partners at EA SPORTS, who have been working with us on our motion capture technology for some time, and they have contributed to developing the technology, including the prototype match shown here. The use of this match was limited to technical purposes only and not representative of the quality of gameplay. For FIFA fans, the new FIFA 22 game also introduces brand-new social features that will take the on-field experience to the next level, including real-time commentary by legendary broadcaster and lead soccer analyst Jeff Agoos and more.

General New Features:

- HyperMotion Soccer: EA SPORTS has been listening to community feedback to improve the game. New gameplay innovations, game engine advancements, and in-game customization have all been created with the game’s new “HyperMotion Soccer” gameplay concept. This concept delivers a more faithful, fun-to-play experience.
- New Play Styles: In today’s game, a player’s performance on the pitch is dictated by his individual game plans and use of various styles of play. From offensive midfielder through to striker, FIFA 22 includes new Play Styles, such as “Lazy Forward Play” and “Sneak & Go,” that help you to create the perfect match.
- Laser Tag: Tackle or get tackled? Find out in FIFA 22 with the new “Laser Tag” style of gameplay. These new rules are designed to make it easier for players to get a tackle on their opponents. If you are not careful, you could find yourself the victim of a longshot, errant shot that will most likely result in a penalty kick!
- New Club Designations: The teams and players are more diverse and organized in FIFA 22
